JAPS RENEW ATTACK AND FORCE CHINESE TO QUIT POSITIONS

Counter - Move;
Losses Heavy

SHANGHAI, Feb. 25, 6:35 p. m. — Japanese forces launched a terrific attack on the Chinese lines between Kiangwan and Miaoshin today, temporarily forcing the Chinese to retreat from their strongly fortified positions in the latter town.

An official Chinese bulletin issued from Nanking tonight declared that the Chinese forces had rallied and staged a counter-attack during the afternoon, recovering their original positions.

Casualties in the attack and counter-attack were believed to have been extremely heavy.

The Japanese carried out their offensive against Miaoshin with the aid of heavy artillery and bombing planes, leveling surrounding villages with a deadly hail of aerial bombs and giant shells.

Japanese military headquarters claimed to have driven the Chinese far back from their original lines, but Chinese spokesmen insisted their troops retreated only a "short distance" and recovered all their lost ground in the later fighting.

Issuance of the Chinese bulletin from Nanking indicated that the Nationalist government was at last assuming direct control of the operations of the nineteenth route army, now defending Shanghai with the aid of two divisions from General Chiang Kai-Shek's crack army.

From early morning the Japanese troops advanced slowly in a northern and northwesterly direction along the Kiangwan front. They encountered stiff resistance from the Chinese, entrenched in cleverly-hidden pits and trenches throughout the area.

The Japanese column was forced to pause frequently to clean up Chinese posts whose machine-gunners persistently harassed the Japanese and were believed to have inflicted heavy casualties on the advancing troops.

The Japanese called into play the full force of their heavy artillery and airplanes assigned to the Kiangwan region.

The countryside for miles around was devastated by the terrific bombardment.

The field headquarters of General Uyeda were moved across the Shanghai-Woosung Railway as the Japanese advanced westward. This was believed to have been done because of the great danger from Chinese sharpshooters which was prevalent in the old position.

While the Kiangwan attack was being carried out Japanese planes again appeared over Shanghai and again bombarded this shell-ridden area.

In the Kiangwan area attack the Japanese were reported to have set fire to Miaoshin, although there was no immediate confirmation of this report.

Six ships believed to be transports docked at Japanese wharves during the night. It was possible that troops aboard these ships might be put into action almost immediately.

The Chinese, eager to shell the Japanese ships and land positions in the international settlement area, asked consular officials to evacuate their nationals in view of the danger which would result from a Chinese attack.

The consuls in turn warned China against waging such an attack, and they were believed to have called off planned operations in the settlement as a result.

There still was great danger to foreigners and foreign property in the settlement, however, as General Tsi Tung-Kai did not officially acknowledge the diplomatic pressure.

MINISTER DIES

DAYTON, O., Feb. 25.—Rev. L. P. Bookwalter, 75, retired minister of the Church of Brethren, was fatally injured here today in an automobile collision. He died from a fractured skull received in the accident. The Rev. Mr. Bookwalter was the father of Parker Bookwalter, former Montgomery County surveyor.

ISSUES WARNING

TOKYO, Feb. 25.—Matsuji De-Buchi, Japanese ambassador to the United States, warned the Japanese people through the medium of their press today that the American attitude toward Japan was becoming more hostile daily.

The American correspondents for both the newspapers Asahi and Nichi Nichi quoted the Washington ambassador as declaring Japan should not be too optimistic regarding the possibility of American sanction of an economic boycott against her.

Although many items of news have been suppressed in Japan of late, these American stories received wide publication.

SIR MALCOLM CAMPBELL

CAMPBELL SEEKING NEW RECORD AFTER BREAKING OLD MARK

Sets Goal Of 260 Miles
An Hour; Speeded
254 Wednesday

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 25.—"I want to make 260 miles an hour or better."

Sir Malcolm Campbell, daring English race driver, made this declaration today as he announced his intention of going out again this afternoon in an attempt to shatter the new world's automobile speed record of 253.968 miles an hour which he established only yesterday on Daytona's famous ocean speedway.

"I'm not satisfied, even if I did break my old record," Campbell told International News Service. "With any kind of a break I should be able to do much better than that."

In making 253.968 miles an hour, Campbell exceeded his former world record of 245.733 miles per hour by 8.235 miles per hour.

Campbell also broke two other records—the one kilometer and the five kilometers marks. His new record of 253.968 miles per hour, for the five kilometers 241.569 miles per hour.

Campbell injured the palm of his left hand slightly in driving his powerful car, The Bluebird, yesterday but he did not anticipate the hand would give him any trouble today. He also suffered pains from his head to feet, caused by the vibration of the car.

Sir Malcolm threw the official timers into confusion by the manner in which he raced for the records. In shooting for records he is timed two ways, in a southerly and a northerly direction and the average of the two runs is computed and announced as official.

Campbell announced he would make a trial spin, in a southerly direction, going perhaps 150 miles an hour. Instead, once he got under way in his powerful car "The Bluebird" he could not keep from bearing down on the pedal and he registered the amazing speed of 267.459 miles per hour through "the measured miles."

Returning north immediately and driving against the wind he was clocked at a speed of 241.773 miles per hour for a two-way average of 253.968 miles per hour.

FEAR NEW CLASHES IN STRIKE AREA

ATHENS, O., Feb. 25.—New clashes in the Hocking Valley coal strike threatened today when it was learned that the National Miners' Union, rival of the United Mine Workers of America, has sent organizers into this territory.

Officials feared the result may be a serious battle between the two unions.

Attempts will be made to win the 5,000 strikers away from the United Mine Workers, headed by John L. Lewis, and make them members of the rival organization, the invading organizers admitted.

In the past there has been bloodshed and serious strife between the two unions sought to occupy the same territory.

Police Find Gangster Plan After Taking Alleged Slayer

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Jewelry valued at $65,000 was found by police when they raided a sumptuously furnished three-room apartment in Elmhurst, Queens, today, and took into custody Mrs. Mary Kekic, said to be the runaway wife of a Cleveland contractor and sweetheart of Joseph Filkowski, 32-year-old Cleveland "bad man" arrested here late yesterday.

Taken to police headquarters, the woman, a strikingly pretty 26-year-old brunette, was said to have admitted that she deserted her husband and two children in Cleveland to flee with Filkowski, a childhood sweetheart who is wanted in the Ohio city for at least one murder, and for thirty or more payroll and jewel robberies.

In the Elmhurst apartment, which Mrs. Kekic had rented January 19 under the name of "Mrs. Mary Krauss," police said they found one sawed off shotgun, a quantity of ammunition to match, two pistols, a roll of four-inch adhesive tape of the sort used to bind robbery victims and a coil of braided rope.

The jewelry, they said, was found concealed in a box made to look like a book, and placed among other real books on shelves in the apartment living room.

The jewelry itself consisted of seventy-five to 100 pieces, many of them bearing manufacturers' or jobbers' price tags. One piece alone, a diamond bracelet, was valued at $10,000. Another bracelet was valued at $5,400.

Lieut. William Lovett and detectives Michael Morris and Michael Reardon of Capt. Patrick McVeigh's headquarters squad, accompanied by three police officers from Cleveland, raided the place. Mrs. Kekic, they said, sought to bar their entrance and, when they brushed her aside, ran to a window. The detectives grabbed her. She denied that Filkowski lived there, although she readily admitted, police said, that she had run away from her husband and children in Cleveland with him.

She is a sister, they told police, of Joseph Staryk, former pal of Filkowski, who was shot and killed during a holdup in 1930. She came to New York, she said, from Detroit, and in a garage at 48th St. and 48th Ave., Sunnyside, Queens, the police found a small coupe belonging to her and purchased, she said, in the Michigan city.

Police said that they did not believe her denials that she had not seen Filkowski since coming to New York. They expressed the belief that she was shielding him in an effort to shoulder "the rap" for the guns and jewelry found in her possession.

Filkowski himself was arrested on Forty-Seventh St., between Broadway and Sixth Ave., late yesterday by Detectives Morris and Reardon accompanied by the three Cleveland officers. Describing the arrest later, the detectives admitted that they "took no chances, but simply picked up the street and hit him with it."

CLEVELAND, Feb. 25.—An indictment on first degree murder charges will be sought by county authorities today for Joseph (Smiling Joe) Filkowski, 32, notorious Cleveland and Chicago gunman suspect, who was captured in a carefully-formed police trap in New York City.

At the same time, final steps for the extradition of Filkowski to Cleveland were to be taken by County Prosecutor P. L. A. Lehigh.

Filkowski, whose bravado has saved him from arrest five times in the past two years, was expected to be named in an indictment charging him with the murder of Tony Verry, 36, a contractor, on June 6, 1930, according to Detective Inspector Cornelius Cody.

At least six other cases in which the desperado is implicated could be considered by the grand jury for indictment, Cody said, but the detective chief stated that the murder charge was the most important to insure Filkowski's early extradition from New York.

TOLEDO AUCTION TEAM WINS TITLE

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 25.—Toledoans held the auction bridge championship of Ohio today.

With a score of 2344, Mrs. P. R. Toner and H. O. Smith won the state title last night after four championship sessions, and two other Toledoans, Dwight Saunders and E. A. Joseph, finished second.

Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo and Cleveland teams battled today for the contract championship.

Moonstruck Girl Keeps Rendezvous With Death

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 25.—The slim young body of moonstruck Elsie Flothmeier, daughter of a minister, who had beauty and life ahead of her, today lay cold on a slab in the morgue.

The 22-year-old college girl ran naked into death in as strange an end as ever recorded in the exotic annals of the west African Gold coast, where she was born.

In the teeth of winter's icy breath, Elsie hung her clothes on a blackberry bush and stumbled through the wild briars until she fell from exhaustion and exposure.

Twenty-four hours after she was missing from the home of her father, Rev. Frederick Flothmeier, pastor of the Tabor Lutheran Church in Olney, her nude body was found concealed in a clump of high grass. She lay face-down, sixty yards away from where she had disappeared. Her head rested on her right arm, her fist clenched, her luxuriant head of hair modestly covering her body.

TRUNK SLAYER HELD IN ARIZONA PRISON AWAITING GALLOWS

Sentenced To Die On May 11; Does Not
Name Accomplice

FLORENCE, Ariz., Feb. 5.—Under sentence of death, Mrs. Ruth Judd, "double trunk" murderer, awakened today in a cell of the state penitentiary.

Mrs. Judd was given in custody of Warden William Delbridge shortly before midnight by Sheriff J. R. McFadden of Phoenix.

Mrs. Judd appeared fatigued from the seventy-two-mile night automobile trip.

She left Phoenix with Sheriff McFadden, Jail Matron Mrs. Lon Jordan and two deputy sheriffs about two hours after Judge Howard Speakman had sentenced her to hang on the gallows here May 11 for the murder of Mrs. Agnes Anne Lerol.

Deputies said Mrs. Judd was surprised that a large crowd had not gathered at the Maricopa County jail to witness her departure. The only witnesses to her departure on what probably was her last automobile ride were deputy sheriffs, newspaper men, and a few women spectators.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 25.—Attorneys for Mrs. Ruth Judd, sentenced to be hanged May 11 for the murder of Mrs. Agnes Anne Lerol, today announced they were preparing to appeal to the state supreme court.

Mrs. Judd did not reveal the name of an alleged accomplice as she had hinted she would do.

Judge Howard Speakman denied counsel's petition for a new trial and fixed May 11 as the date of the execution at the state prison at Florence, Ariz.

It was mandatory upon Judge Speakman to sentence Mrs. Judd to death as a jury had decreed, death in hanging Mrs. Judd guilty.

Appeal to the supreme court apparently would stay execution, but this would be the last recourse of attorneys. The governor of Arizona does not have the power to pardon, although the pardon board could commute the sentence to life imprisonment.

Mrs. Judd's attorneys based their appeal for a new trial on alleged errors committed by the court and on the asserted pre-trial prejudice of one of the jurors, Dan Kleinman of Mesa, Ariz.

PETTICOAT RULE FOR ONE DAY

AURORA, Ill., Feb. 24.—The gentle, so-called, well-manicured female hand will become an iron-clad fist here Feb. 25.

Next Monday the women of Aurora will exercise their leap year prerogative and be "queens for a day," municipally speaking.

The men have agreed to turn over the reins of the city government and not to do any backseat driving.

There will be a woman mayor, a woman police chief, a woman fire chief—though the regular fire-eaters will remain within hailing distance in the event it is necessary to rescue any women from burning buildings—women traffic cops.

The local newspaper will probably carry the fashion and society news on the front page, for it will be published by women.

Her only remaining garment was a girdle. Her shoes lay a few feet away.

There were scratches on the girl's face and body. But assistant superintendent of Police Joseph Lestrangle, today said these were received during her mad flight.

"This girl was subject to mental lapses," said Lestrangle.

"I believe she suffered one on Tuesday, when she disappeared and wandered around in a daze until she died of exposure."

"You are sure that she was not attacked or murdered?" asked the father, former missionary in Africa.

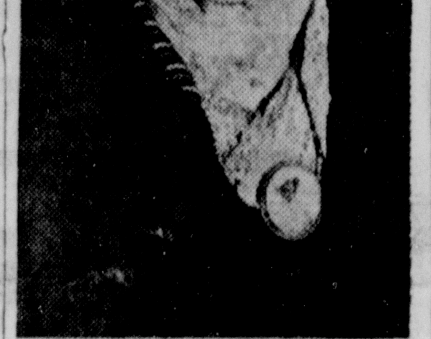

"I am certain of it," replied Lestrangle.

"Thank God, for that," sobbed the pastor.

Elsie had started with her father on a round of parish calls on Tuesday afternoon. Near the entrance of Burholme Park, she told him

FORM ASSOCIATION TO FOSTER PROJECT FOR DIXIE HIGHWAY

Yellow Springs Man
Made Secretary Of
New Group

Frank L. Curry, Yellow Springs, was elected treasurer when permanent organization of the "Revolutionary Short Trail Association" was effected at a mass meeting of ten cities and villages, including Xenia, Yellow Springs, Springfield and Waynesville, assembled at Urbana Wednesday.

The organization was perfected to foster a project of obtaining a specific federal numerical designation for a route from Toledo to Cincinnati which will follow route 25, the Dixie Highway from Toledo to Pindley, change to route 31 from Pindley to Kenton, and to route 53 from Kenton to Xenia, and to route 42 from Xenia to Cincinnati.

Carl Price Kenton, was elected president; Edgel C. Lutz, Urbana, vice-president, and Wilbur M. Faulkner, Springfield, secretary.

Fifty-seven men, representing the communities along the proposed route, registered for the meeting, and the attendance of interested Urbana citizens swelled the group to nearly 100.

It is proposed to acquit motorists with the fact the contemplated route is the shortest and best one to take between Toledo and Cincinnati.

Arguments in favor of splitting the Dixie Highway include the scenic and historic values of following the Ohio Revolutionary Memorial Trail, and the matter of

REPORT INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC DECLINES

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 25.—The influenza epidemic, which swept over the entire state, was of a mild nature and the cases are declining rapidly, Dr. H. G. Southard, state director of health, announced here today.

Health authorities in various sections of the state have reported the illness to be of a mild nature with no serious results. Dr. Southard explained that at the O. S. and S. O. Home at Xenia, where approximately 200 were stricken at one time, the cases at last reports have dwindled to 100. No deaths occurred.

Seventeen homes are now quarantined and twenty-four children are ill. The outbreak followed the death two weeks ago of 10-year-old Jean Shields. The epidemic has spread since.

SOVIET FEARFUL OF ATTACK FROM JAPS; BORDER IS WATCHED

Russia May Attack While
Japan Busy In
Shanghai

TOKYO, Feb. 25.—Soviet Russian authorities are fearful of a Japanese air invasion of Siberia and as a result constant martial law is in effect at Vladivostok and other Siberian cities, a Ruopenean traveler just arrived from Vladivostok told International News Service today.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 25.—The possibility of a Russian attack upon Japan in Northern Manchuria, to be launched when Japan becomes a little more embroiled in the Shanghai warfare, was a topic of wide discussion in foreign circles here today.

Linking the pleas this week of the Soviet minister of war for a strengthened Red army to protect Soviet interests in the Far East with the reports of renewed attacks against the Japanese forces in the Harbin area, foreign diplomats conjectured that Russia may attack Japan in Manchuria.

The time was held to be nearly ripe for this, since the Shanghai area has absorbed, or is about to absorb most of Japan's reserve army strength, with from 60,000 to 80,000 troops ready to be massed in the Shanghai area alone.

With China hitting hard here, Russia would be at an advantage in Northern Manchuria, while the launching of a Russian offensive on Japan would serve to add great moral strength to the Chinese. The two countries immediately would be allied against Japan, and Japan's position would become precarious.

Manchurian reports indicate that Japan steadily is taking possession of the Chinese Eastern Railway, equally owned by China and Russia, and this has been a special grievance to the Soviets. Also, Russia considers Japan's strength in Northern Manchuria a menace to Vladivostok and other points in Siberia near the Manchurian border.

WILL APPEAL FROM BRIBE CONVICTION

LIMA, O., Feb. 25.—An appeal against his conviction of obtaining money under false pretenses from a convict's sister was expected to be filed here today by Alvin C. Jones, former Toledo councilman found guilty yesterday.

Unless Jones wins his appeal, he faces sentence of six months in jail or $500 fine or both.

Accused by Mrs. Nettie Williams of Lima of attempted "parole fixing" for which he allegedly solicited $200 from her, Jones was convicted after the jury deliberated four hours and ten minutes.

ARMS CONFERENCE FAVORS SIMON PLAN

GENEVA, Feb. 25.—The general commission of the League of Nations' disarmament conference today unanimously adopted the resolution proposed by Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, calling for discussion of armament problems within the framework of the draft convention with full liberty for all delegates to develop their respective proposals.

The adoption was preceded by an hour's wordy battle between Sir John, Maxim Litvinoff of Russia, Salvador de Madariaga of Spain, and Dr. Rudolph Nadelny of Germany.

DAYTON TO PROBE IRREGULARITIES

DAYTON, O., Feb. 25.—Investigation of Dayton's street department was started today to ferret out alleged irregularities reported by City Commissioner John E. Breidenbach.

Breidenbach, in a meeting last night, said he can supply the name of a contractor who declares the city has been spending $25,000 too much every year for the removal of ashes and garbage.

SCARLET FEVER EPIDEMIC HAS CLOSED MOUNT VERNON SCHOOLS

MOUNT VERNON, O., Feb. 25.—A scarlet fever outbreak today forced the closing of all Mount Vernon public and parochial schools until March 7.

City Health Commissioner Julius Shamansky simultaneously ordered all children barred from theaters, churches, libraries, basketball games and other public gatherings.

Seventeen homes are now quarantined and twenty-four children are ill. The outbreak followed the death two weeks ago of 10-year-old Jean Shields. The epidemic has spread since.

COWBOY BANK BANDIT HELD

Love Telegram Traps
"Wild Bill" Boyd

TIFFIN, O., Feb. 25.—"Wild Bill" Boyd, escaped desperado captured in Chattanooga, Tenn., and held for the robbery of the New Riegel, O., Banking Co. on Feb. 13, was floored by Cupid, officials believed today.

A love message telegraphed to a Santa Rosa, N. M., girl, Boyd's former home, caused his arrest after he eluded authorities for eleven days.

The telegram sent by the sombrero, kid-gloved bandit, resulted in his capture when he and a companion went to a Chattanooga telephone office to await an answer.

Bankers, meanwhile, waited anxiously to learn whether Boyd has surrendered any of the $1010 missing after the $1500 robbery.

Sheriff George Burkett said Boyd would be returned to Tiffin today or tomorrow. He may be charged with kidnapping in addition to robbery because two bankers were abducted in the holdup.

NAVAL HOLIDAY NOT TO BE EXTENDED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The one-day naval holiday which was of the major powers agreed to as of Nov. 1 last probably will not be continued after the expiration date.

This belief prevailed in official quarters today following receipt of advices from Tokyo that Japan is contemplating laying down four new 8,500-ton cruisers. The Japanese apparently have interpreted the agreement as permitting formulation of future programs during the year's holiday.

WILL QUIZ WARDEN ON IMPROVEMENTS

MARYSVILLE, O., Feb. 25.—Questioning of Warden Preston E. Thomas about possible improvements at Ohio Penitentiary will be the next step in the state senate's welfare investigation, it was indicated today.

None of the children are serious, by ill, officials said.

UNOFFICIAL REPLY SAYS JAPS ANXIOUS TO MAINTAIN PACTS

U. S. At Crossroads On
Policy; Solons Back
Stimson

TOKYO, Feb. 25.—A Japanese foreign office spokesman today gave to International News Service what may be regarded as an official reply to the accusations made against Japan by United States Secretary of State Stimson in his letter to Senator Borah.

"Japan has contended repeatedly that she has not violated the nine-power treaty and does not intend to do so," the spokesman said.

"The treaty provides that any signatory breaking its provisions must undergo consultation with the other powers. The United States has not yet asked Japan for consultation although it has accused Tokyo of violating the pact."

The foreign office was advised of Secretary Stimson's letter through press dispatches. While an official reply was impossible owing to the fact the communication had not been addressed to Tokyo, it was recognized that the Stimson letter was in effect a statement to the world which demanded some sort of response.

"Secretary Stimson," the spokesman said, "hopes that China will fulfill the desires of the powers and accomplish sovereignty and maintain the open door."

"In this Japan agrees, except that Japan's patience has been worn out and further non-interference is impossible in view of the continued circumstances in."

"Japan seeks to comply with the treaty requirements, but China is unable to meet them because of her instability."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The United States today stood at the crossroads of international policy, with one signboard pointing the road of peace flanked with fences of paper promises, and another pointing a road of orderly respect backed by a formidable navy.

In effect, the United States has asked Japan which road we shall travel, Secretary of State Stimson has bluntly notified Japan that unless that country is willing more strictly to observe both the letter and the spirit of her paper promises the United States is determined to rely for her own protection upon something more substantial than international treaties which Japan has treated as paper fences.

This is the substance of the interpretation placed upon Stimson's open letter to Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, in which he inferentially charged Japan with wilful violation of the nine power treaty and declared that this

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Jewelry valued at $65,000 was found by police when they raided a sumptuously furnished three-room apartment in Elmhurst, Queens, today, and took into custody Mrs. Mary Kekie, said to be the runaway wife of a Cleveland contractor and sweetheart of Joseph Filkowski, 32-year-old Cleveland "bad man," arrested here late yesterday.

Taken to police headquarters, the woman, a strikingly pretty 26-year-old brunette, was said to have admitted that she deserted her husband and two children in Cleveland to flee with Filkowski, a childhood sweetheart who is wanted in the Ohio city for at least one murder, and for thirty or more payroll and jewel robberies.

In the Elmhurst apartment, which Mrs. Kekie had rented January 19 under the name of "Mrs. Mary Krauss," police said they found one sawed off shotgun, a quantity of ammunition to match, two pistols, a roll of four-inch adhesive tape of the sort used to bind robbery victims and a coil of braided rope.

The jewelry, they said, was found concealed in a box made to look like a book, and placed among other real books on shelves in the apartment living room.

The jewelry itself consisted of seventy-five to 100 pieces, many of them bearing manufacturers' or jobbers' price tags. One piece alone, a diamond bracelet, was valued at $10,000. Another bracelet was valued at $4,500.

Lieut. William Lovett and detectives Michael Morris and Michael Reardon of Capt. Patrick McVeigh's headquarters squad, accompanied by three police officers from Cleveland, raided the place. Mrs. Kekie, they said, sought to bar their entrance and, when they brushed her aside, ran to a window. The detectives grabbed her. She denied that Filkowski lived there, although she readily admitted, police said, that she had run away from her husband and children in Cleveland with him.

She is a sister, she told police, of Joseph Styak, former pal of Filkowski, who was shot and killed during a holdup in 1930. She came to New York, she said, from Detroit, and in a garage at 48th St. and 48th Ave., Sunnyside, Queens, the police found a small coupe belonging to her and purchased, she said, in the Michigan city.

Police said that they did not believe her denials that she had not seen Filkowski since coming to New York. They expressed the belief that she was shielding him in an effort to shoulder "the rap" for the guns and jewelry found in her possession.

Filkowski himself was arrested on February 24, between Broadway and Sixth Ave., late yesterday. Detectives Morris and Reardon, accompanied by the three Cleveland officers, described the arrest later, the detectives admitted that they "took no chances, but simply picked up the street and hit him with it."

OLEVELAND, Feb. 25.—An indictment on first degree murder charges will be sought by county authorities today for Joseph (Smiling Joe) Filkowski, 32, notorious Cleveland and Chicago gunman suspect, who was captured in a carefully-planned police trap in New York City.

At the same time, initial steps for the extradition of Filkowski to Cleveland were to be taken by County Prosecutor P. L. A. Lehigh.

Filkowski, whose bravado has saved him from arrest five times in the past two years, was expected to be named in an indictment charging him with the murder of Tony Verry, 36, a contractor, on June 6, 1930, according to Detective Inspector Cornelius Cody.

At least six other cases in which the desperado is implicated were considered by the grand jury for indictment. Cody said, but the detective chief stated that the murder charge was the most important to insure Filkowski's early extradition from New York.

TOLEDO AUCTION TEAM WINS TITLE

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 25.—Toladoans held the auction bridge championship of Ohio today.

With a score of 2344, Mrs. P. R. Heyer and H. O. Smith won the state title last night after four championship sessions, and two other Toladoans, Dwight Saunders and E. A. Joseph, finished second. Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo and Cleveland teams battled today for the contract championship.

Moonstruck Girl Keeps Rendezvous With Death

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 25.—The slim young body of moonstruck Elsie Flothmeier, daughter of a minister, who had beauty and life ahead of her, today lay cold on a slab in the morgue.

The 22-year-old college girl ran naked into death in as strange an end as ever recorded in the exotic annals of the west African Gold coast, where she was born.

In the teeth of winter's icy breath, Elsie hung her clothes on a blackberry bush and stumbled through the wild briars until she fell from exhaustion and exposure. Twenty four hours after she was missing from the home of her father, Rev. Frederick Flothmeier, pastor of the Tabor Lutheran Church in Olney, her nude body was found concealed in a clump of high grass. She lay face-down, sixty yards away from where she had disrobed. Her head rested on her right arm, her fist clenched, her luxuriant head of hair modestly covering her body.

Her only remaining garment was a girdle. Her shoes lay a few feet away.

There were scratches on the girl's face and body. But assistant superintendent of Police Joseph LeStrange, today said these were received during her mad flight.

"This girl was subject to mental lapses," said LeStrange.

"I believe she suffered one on Tuesday, when she disappeared and wandered around in a daze until she died of exposure."

"You are sure that she was not attacked or murdered?" asked the father, former missionary in Africa. "I am certain of it," replied LeStrange.

"Thank God, for that," sobbed the pastor.

Elsie had started with her father on a round of parish calls on Tuesday afternoon. Near the entrance of Burholme Park, she told him

FORM ASSOCIATION TO FOSTER PROJECT FOR DIXIE HIGHWAY

Yellow Springs Man
Made Secretary Of
New Group

Frank L. Currey, Yellow Springs, was elected treasurer when permanent organization of the "Evolutionary Short Trail Association" was effected at a mass meeting of ten cities and villages, including Xenia, Yellow Springs, Springfield, and Waynesville, assembled at Urbana Wednesday.

The organization was perfected to foster a project of obtaining a specific federal numerical designation for a route from Toledo to Cincinnati which will follow route 25, the Dixie Highway from Toledo to Pindlay, change to route 31 from Pindlay to Kenton, and to route 53 from Kenton to Xenia, and to route 42 from Xenia to Cincinnati.

Carl Frick, Xenia, was elected president; Edgel C. Lutz, Urbana, vice-president; and Wilbur M. Vaukner, Springfield, secretary.

Fifty-seven men, representing the communities along the proposed route, registered for the meeting, and the attendance of interested Urbana citizens swelled the group to nearly 100.

It is proposed to acquire motor-lots with the fact the contemplated route is the shortest and best one to take between Toledo and Cincinnati.

Arguments in favor of splitting the Dixie Highway include the scenic and historic values of following the Ohio Revolutionary Memorial Trail, and the matter of

REPORT INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC DECLINES

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 25.—The influenza epidemic, which swept over the entire state, was of a mild nature and the cases are declining rapidly, Dr. H. G. Southard, state director of health, announced here today.

Health authorities in various sections of the state have reported the decline and historic values of following the Ohio Revolutionary Memorial Trail, and the matter of

SOVIET FEARFUL OF ATTACK FROM JAPS; BORDER IS WATCHED

Russia May Attack While
Japan Busy In
Shanghai

TOKYO, Feb. 25.—Soviet Russian authorities are fearful of a Japanese air invasion of Siberia and as a result constant martial law is in effect at Vladivostok and other Siberian cities, a Russian traveler just arrived from Vladivostok told International News Service today.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 25.—The possibility of a Russian attack upon Japan in Northern Manchuria, to be launched when Japan becomes a traveler in the Shanghai area, was a topic of wide discussion in foreign circles here today.

Linking the pleas this week of the Soviet minister of war for a strengthened Red army to protect Soviet interests in the Far East with the reports of renewed attacks against the Japanese forces in the Harbin area, foreign diplomats conjectured that Russia may attack Japan in Manchuria.

The time was held to be nearly ripe for this, since the Shanghai area has absorbed, or is about to absorb most of Japan's reserve army strength, with from 60,000 to 80,000 troops ready to be massed in the Shanghai area alone.

With China hitting hard here, Russia would be at an advantage in Northern Manchuria, while the launching of a Russian offensive on Japan would serve to add great moral strength to the Chinese. The two countries immediately would be allied against Japan, and Japan's position would become precarious.

Manchurian reports indicate that Japan steadily is taking possession of the Chinese Eastern Railway, equally owned by China and Russia, and this has been a special grievance to the Soviets. Also, Russia considers Japan's strength in Northern Manchuria a menace to Vladivostok and other points in Siberia near the Manchurian border.

WILL APPEAL FROM BRIBE CONVICTION

LEMA, O., Feb. 25.—An appeal against his conviction of obtaining money under false pretenses from a convict's sister was expected to be filed here today by Alvin C. Jones, former Toledo councilman found guilty yesterday.

Unless Jones wins his appeal, he faces sentence of six months in jail or $500 fine or both.

Accused by Mrs. Nettie Williams of Lima of attempted "parole fixing" for which he allegedly solicited $200 from her, Jones was convicted after the jury deliberated four hours and ten minutes.

ARMS CONFERENCE FAVORS SIMON PLAN

GENEVA, Feb. 25.—The general commission of the League of Nations' disarmament conference today unanimously adopted the resolution proposed by Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, calling for discussion of armament problems within the framework of the draft convention with full liberty for all delegates to develop their respective proposals.

The adoption was preceded by an hour's warty battle between Sir John, Maxim Litvinoff of Russia, Salvador de Madariaga of Spain and Dr. Rudolph Nading of Germany.

DAYTON TO PROBE IRREGULARITIES

DAYTON, O., Feb. 25.—Investigation of Dayton's streets department was started today to ferret out alleged irregularities reported by City Commissioner John E. Breidenbach.

Breidenbach, in a meeting last night, said he can supply the name of a contractor who declares the city has been spending $25,000 too much every year for the removal of ashes and garbage.

SCARLET FEVER EPIDEMIC HAS CLOSED MOUNT VERNON SCHOOLS

MOUNT VERNON, O., Feb. 25.—A scarlet fever outbreak today forced the closing of all Mount Vernon public and parochial schools until March 7.

City Health Commissioner Julius Shamsany simultaneously ordered all children barred from theaters, churches, libraries, basketball games and other public gatherings.

Seventeen homes are now quarantined and twenty-four children are ill. The outbreak followed the death two weeks ago of 10-year-old Jean Shields. The epidemic has spread since.

COWBOY BANK BANDIT HELD

Love Telegram Traps
"Wild Bill" Boyd

TIFFIN, O., Feb. 25.—"Wild Bill" Boyd, escaped desperado captured in Chattanooga, Tenn., and held for the robbery of the New Regal, O. Banking Co. on Feb. 13, was floored by Cupid, officials believed today.

A love message telegraphed to a Santa Rosa, N. M., girl, Boyd's former home, caused his arrest after he eluded authorities for eleven days.

The telegram sent by the sombrero, kid-gloved bandit resulted in his capture when he and a companion went to a Chattanooga telephone office to await an answer.

Bankers, meanwhile, waited anxiously to learn whether Boyd had surrendered any of the $1010 missing after the $1500 robbery. Sheriff George Burckett said Boyd would be returned to Tiffin today or tomorrow. He may be charged with kidnapping in addition to robbery because two bankers were abducted in the holdup.

NAVAL HOLIDAY NOT TO BE EXTENDED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The one-year naval holiday to which all of the major powers agreed to as of Nov. 1 last probably will not be continued after the expiration date.

This belief prevailed in official quarters today following receipt of advices from Tokyo that Japan is contemplating laying down four new 8,500-ton cruisers. The Japanese apparently have interpreted the agreement as permitting formulation of future programs during the year's holiday.

WILL QUIZ WARDEN ON IMPROVEMENTS

MARYSVILLE, O., Feb. 25.—Questioning of Warden Preston E. Thomas about possible improvements at Ohio Penitentiary will be the next step in the state senate's welfare investigation, it was indicated today.

After a short trip of inspection through the Marysville Reformatory for Women, the investigating committee adjourned yesterday for a week. Senator Joseph N. Ackerman (R) of Cleveland, secretary, said the next meeting will be held at Columbus.

TRAFFIC VICTIM

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 25.—The eighteenth traffic victim in Franklin County this year, Frank Riat, 48, died in Memorial Hospital today following an automobile crash.

None of the children are seriously ill, officials said. Thirty scarlet fever cases have been reported here in the last two months. Health authorities first believed the outbreak would not reach the epidemic stage.

Members of the board of education ruled that Mount Vernon high school must not be used tomorrow and Saturday for the annual Knox County basketball tournament because the gathering of a tournament crowd may cause the development of new cases.

UNOFFICIAL REPLY SAYS JAPS ANXIOUS TO MAINTAIN PACTS

U. S. At Crossroads On
Policy; Solons Back
Stimson

TOKYO, Feb. 25.—A Japanese foreign office spokesman today gave to International News Service what may be regarded as an official reply to the accusations made against Japan by United States Secretary of State Stimson in his letter to Senator Borah.

"Japan has contended repeatedly that she has not violated the nine-power treaty and does not intend to do so," the spokesman said.

"The treaty provides that any signatory breaking its provisions must undergo consultation with the other powers. The United States has not yet asked Japan for consultation although it has accused Tokyo of violating the pact."

The foreign office was advised of Secretary Stimson's letter through press dispatches. While an official reply was impossible owing to the fact the communication had not been addressed to Tokyo, it was recognized that the Stimson letter was in effect a statement to the world which demanded some sort of response.

"Secretary Stimson," the spokesman said, "hopes that China will fulfill the desires of the powers and accomplish sovereignty and maintain the open door."

"In this Japan agrees, except that Japan's patience has been worn out and further non-interference is impossible in view of the continued circumstances in."

"Japan seeks to comply with the treaty requirements, but China is unable to meet them because of her instability."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The United States today stood at the crossroads of international policy, with one signboard pointing the road of peace flanked with fences of paper promises, and another pointing a road of orderly respect backed by a formidable army.

In effect, the United States has asked Japan which road we shall travel. Secretary of State Stimson has bluntly notified Japan that unless that country is willing more strictly to observe both the letter and the spirit of her paper promises the United States is determined to rely for her own protection upon something more substantial than international treaties which Japan has treated as paper fences.

This is the substance of the interpretation placed upon Stimson's open letter to Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, in which he inferentially charged Japan with willful violation of the nine power treaty and declared that this

EXTREME COLD GRIPS ALASKA

SEWARD, Alaska, Feb. 25.—Weather of fifty-four degrees below zero today prevailed in the broad pass district where twelve passengers on an Alaskan railroad train are stranded.

Reports reaching here today however said that the weather was clearing and that employees of the railroad expected to get the train through today to Fairbanks.

The train was halted between Anchorage and Fairbanks by the severest blizzard in many years. Snow drifts thirty to forty feet deep blocked the railroad.

TAXING COMMITTEE TO PONDER SESSION

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 25.—A meeting of the joint legislative taxation committee will be called within the next few days to discuss the matter of a special session of the state legislature to consider the unemployment and poor relief problem. Governor George White announced today.

Governor White said he planned to get in touch with Senator Robert Taft, chairman of the taxation committee, some time today to arrange for a conference.

DEATH ENDS FIGHT OVER ELECTION

FRONTON, O., Feb. 25.—Death has interrupted Lawrence County election board controversy, in which a citizens' committee recently asked for the removal of all members.

Garland Gillen, 23, Democratic member, was dead today, following an attack of pneumonia. Gillen himself was contesting the election of Harry Kiser to his place on the board. Another contest is impending, members indicated.

TAXES NOT PAYABLE UPON LARGE NUMBER OF RETURNS FILED

With legal exemptions leaving about 600 returns non-taxable, less than 60 per cent of the first 1,200 personal property returns filed in Greene County under Ohio's new classified law were found to be taxable, according to a recent check made by County Auditor James J. Curlett.

An analysis of the early returns indicated that amounts to be paid where taxes are due, are much less than under the old law, in a few isolated cases as low as 10 cents. Taxes were determined to be due under 700 of the first 1,200 returns filed.

Special deputy auditors, who are assisting taxpayers in filling out their tax blanks properly, are finding it difficult to explain a provision of the new law requiring that one-half the taxes due must be paid within ten days after the return is filed, and the balance six months later.

In cases where the sum to be paid is less than a dime, the auditor's deputies are authorized to ignore the sum completely. Auditor Curlett declares. Otherwise, the property owners are furnished a pay-in order for one-half the amount due. The law forbids furnishing a pay-in order for the full amount at the time of filing, regardless of the sum to be paid is almost insignificant.

In some instances, property owners, who find they have been taxed a smaller amount than under the former system, can scarcely be persuaded they should pay a lesser sum. Particularly busy this year, found to be true of farmers, who are benefited by the new classification law. Farm products, tools, and domestic animals are taxed at only 50 per cent of their real value and the value of agricultural products and livestock has decreased sharply from a year ago. In addition, an exemption of $100 is allowed.

MAIL FEBRUARY TAX CHECKS THIS WEEK

Checks totalling about $390,000, representing the February settlement of the collection of the first half of 1931 real estate taxes, will be mailed out from the county auditor's office the latter part of this week, probably Saturday, to the various taxing districts in Greene County.

Inasmuch as the taxes collected in December and January were confined to real estate, special assessment and delinquent personal property, under the new classification law, the distribution to the taxing districts will run about $150,000 below similar settlements in previous years.

Personal property taxes are being collected separately once a year and half the amount is distributed semi-annually. Whether the revenue to be derived from personal property taxation under the new system will be less or greater than under the former law, cannot be accurately predicted, it is said. The first distribution of personal property tax money will occur in May.

CHARGE DISMISSED

A worthless check charge on which Forest K. Waddle, 52, near Cedarville, was arrested, was dismissed for lack of prosecution by Municipal Judge Fred A. Wagner at Springfield Wednesday. A warrant against Waddle, accusing him of issuing a check for $225 against insufficient funds in the bank was sworn out early in February by John W. Henry, Springfield.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

DEMOCRATS WILL MEET ON TUESDAY

NO TAIL TWISTING

The Republican De Valeristas have won 65 seats in the Dail, as against the Government's 49 seats. This does not necessarily mean, however, that they will be able to twist the Lion's tail to the extent to which their irreconcilable leader so often has promised if he were ever in a position to do so. There are two other elements in the Dail to be taken into account.

One of these elements consists of the Independents, who carried 17 seats in last week's elections and will support the Government. The other is Labor, which obtained seven seats and the support of which De Valera must secure if any ministry he may form is to have a majority over the combined Opposition. There is some doubt about his ability to keep Labor behind him in a radical separatist program.

What De Valera aims at is complete independence of the British Crown. The oath of allegiance to George V stands in the way of that. Consequently it must go. Already the Irish Free State enjoys a dominion status in some ways more liberal than that Canada now possesses—or at least more liberal than Canada has as yet asserted. That is not enough. The ambition of the Republican leaders will not be fulfilled until the Irish Free State is free to coerce Northern Ireland (Ulster) into union with it in one Sovereign State of Ireland, which shall embrace all Erin.

A noble ambition, as anyone will admit; but that it could be effected at this time, without more bloodshed than its fulfillment is worth, admits of doubt. Without the support of Labor's seven votes in the Dail it cannot be attempted. The Republican leader may find himself "in office but not in power," as Mr. Ramsay MacDonald did at Westminster, as long as he remained merely a partisan leader.

HONEY IS SCARCE

Something of a "tail" yarn has come out of Nebraska. The farmers report that honey is scarce because the woodpeckers, too lazy to drill holes in fence posts or other sound timber, have been boring into bee hives. This is so easy that a hive is soon bored full of holes, the cold winds blow in and the bees freeze to death.

Whether that is intended to be a fable or not, we can make one of it. The lazy woodpeckers are the wastrel members of society who refuse to do any of the hard work for which they are fitted. Instead they turn gunmen and gangsters. They prey upon the industrious honey-makers of the human race. Not all of these actually freeze to death. But many of them have died, innocent victims of racketeer bullets. All the rest have to pay increased taxes because the jails are full of woodpeckers, only a few of whom develop steel files in place of bills.

THE DOLLAR'S LIFE

Never since its debut in 1794 has the dollar's home life been subjected to so much scrutiny. It has been openly charged that the dollar has sought to go into absolute seclusion—to deny itself any of those little pleasures which come from moving about among its fellow dollars in the various channels of trade. It is asserted—and there is circumstantial evidence to support the allegation—that the dollar is possessed of a fear that if it goes out, it never will get back home again.

And so the dollar has been crawling into old stockings, mattresses, clocks and pewter pots. It has failed to recognize that its own successful future is dependent upon its full co-operation with other dollars in a free movement among the various activities which provide a people with food, clothing and a few luxuries.

Efforts, therefore, are being made to tease these timid dollars to come from their hiding places and do their share of the work. These "slacker" dollars, as they have been called by some of their more ambitious and intrepid brethren, have been keeping their heads out in much the same manner as a hibernating woodchuck. According to reports, something like 34,000,000 have been encouraged to come out on the front porch and take a look at things.

One of the new proposals for tempting these procrastinating and timorous dollars from their holes and getting them to do a little legitimate work is to be found in the movement for an issue of baby bonds which is said to have wide approval. Once these bawky dollars get to moving down the avenues of business there will be as much jubilation as over a circus parade.

THE WAY IN CHINA

When students in China do not like the way things are going they start a boycott or beat a Cabinet minister nearly to death or besiege a recalcitrant mayor in his yamen.

American students are less belligerent. They get together in organizations claiming a membership of 1,000,000 and sign an appeal to the Government in Washington to withdraw American citizens from danger zones, to withhold protection from American interests and property, to withdraw American troops from China and to contribute to the early cessation of hostilities there by pacific means only. They do not say what they will do if the Government does not do as they say.

American citizens and interests and property are in China today by virtue of treaties amicably entered into by China and this country, as well as by the comity of nations. They are entitled to protection. They cannot be withdrawn by the Government. Withholding protection from them would be an admission of weakness that would make the United States the laughing stock of the world and invite invasion of its rights from all sides.

The National Student Federation of America should send its members back to school and college there to bone up on the principles that govern intercourse between civilized nations and free peoples. Yet what can one expect of the boys, when the president of Harvard University goes on the air and urges an economic boycott of Japan because of its present activities in China?

Great Britain and the United States have been running on parallel lines since the days when George III wanted to chop off the heads of the colonists because he did not know the difference between them and the aborigines. Within recent years the gap between America and England has been bridged, but it must now be strengthened.

Peace has endured between the United States and Great Britain in spite of everything. I have always felt that it is we who should celebrate the Fourth of July. Certainly we have no grudge against you. It was bound to happen, the Revolution. Not at tea time in Boston, then at supper in New York.

It must be remembered that at that time the British Empire was being formed and consolidated. Men were wondering how the different colonies would be governed. They had been taken by force and had to be maintained by force.

EDUCATOR STAUNCH ADVOCATE OF SPOKEN PRAYER IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

In some states there are laws compelling the reading of the Bible in school. Personally I should like to see it made a practice except for one thing—the rights of those parents who on conscientious grounds object to having any religious instruction in the public schools.

In those states where the Bible is to be read at school, and in other states where it is read at the discretion of the teacher, it is a matter of good taste to select such parts of the Bible for reading as would meet with the approval of the three leading religious groups, Jews, Catholics, Protestants. The majority of teachers are coming to this point of view. Consequently the selections read generally are from the Psalms or Proverbs. Where can more unusual English be found?

Of course, if it were known that no Jewish children were present there could be no objection to selections from the New Testament.

While attending an assembly program recently at the West Chester State Teachers' college of Pennsylvania I observed that the president, instead of leading in a verbal prayer, bowed in silence for about a minute. The effect was very impressive. Those who wished to pray silently could do so without interruption; those who did not could choose. The atmosphere was one of reverence.

In Helena, Mont., I visited an assembly program of the grammar grades, in which the children stood and prayed in concert the following:

"Our Father, we, Thy children.

come before Thee this morning with humble hearts. We thank Thee for Thy mercies, and we pray that Thou wilt so help us that those about us today may be a little happier and a little better for our influence."

Undoubtedly this is readily approved by all faiths. That a prayer for all children in a public school should be such as will be approved by practically all religions is, it seems to me, quite essential if we are to maintain the spirit of our democracy. When such can be done, a wholesome attitude expressed by school children at the beginning of the day would certainly have some real value. As one school principal told me recently in my home city, "I could not feel that the school day had been started right without some expression of reverence to Almighty God."

Here is a prayer my children learned when in the kindergarten and which some parents urge their young children to pray at home: "Father, we thank Thee for the night.

And for the pleasant morning light; For rest and food and loving care, And all that makes the day so fair.

"Help us to do the things we should, To be to others kind and good, In all we do, in work or play, To grow more loving every day."

I wish we might, in the public schools, go one step further and assure those few parents who declare themselves to be atheists that they have the privilege of allowing their children to retire from the assembly or school room while religious services are being conducted.

One thing is certain, there can be no objection to religious parents training their children at home in whatever religion they choose. There lies the hope of religion.

Budgets For The Entire Family

By MRS. MARY MORTON

DO NOT BE TOO SIMPLE

One of the mistakes that is often made in keeping records of family expenditures is due to a false idea of simplicity. Often a person will start keeping a record by writing on one page or in one column all the money received and the source, and on the next page or in the next column all the money paid out and the items for which it was paid.

At the end of the month these two pages or columns are totaled. This merely gives two money totals—amount received and amount spent.

This type of record may look simple, but, in the long run, if any real use is made of it, a great deal of work will have to be done in sorting out items under various heads. What is needed is to know not merely the total amount spent, but what has been spent on clothes, on food, on recreation, and on other principal items, and what was obtained in return.

The items should be classified when entered in the record. At first glance this may look complicated, but in the end it is much simpler than any other method. Of course it is useful to have a memorandum book in which the expenditures may be jotted down as made, but when these are transferred to the regular record they should be entered under the suitable heading.

A record of expenditures is not something merely to keep. It is something to study and to use as the basis for correcting past mistakes in spending, and for making a better plan for the future.

Necessity Of Minerals

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Iron has been known for a long time as the essential blood builder. Both the medical profession and the laity conceive of iron as the part of the red blood cell which gives the blood its color and does its essential work of oxygen transportation.

The use of iron alone in secondary anemia was a disappointment, and long before the introduction of the liver diet for pernicious anemia had fallen into disuse. In infant nutrition the habit became general for the physician to prescribe pigment containing foods to furnish material for the body's manufacture of haemoglobin. It was for this reason that pigment containing vegetables, such as spinach and carrots, became so popular for infants and children.

The latest studies make it appear likely that other metals, particularly copper and manganese, are necessary for blood formation. Also that they are the essential parts of the dietary of adults.

You may not have known that you were eating copper but you have been all your life. The average intake of copper calculated for the average meals of a number of American families by Hodges and Patterson show that we eat 2 1/2 milligrams of copper a day, and a little more than that of manganese. The intake of iron in the average dietary is 15 1/2 milligrams.

The foods which are richest in copper are calf liver, oysters, beef liver, mushrooms, currants and chocolate. Those richest in manganese are wheat, bran, blueberries, whole wheat, split peas and navy beans. Those richest in iron are liver, spinach, lima beans and navy beans.

The practical results in patients with the anemia of infancy indicate that when given an anti-anemia diet alone, there was little improvement; when given diet and iron there was some improvement, and when given diet, iron and copper there was rapid and marked improvement.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS
G. S.: "I would like to have this question answered. How can cardiac and heart murmur be cured?"

Answer: Heart murmurs are usually indicative of an inflammation of the valves of the heart. There is no way to repair the damage once it has been done. But the management and treatment of these cases is much more hopeful than might be supposed. Many of them live to an advanced age without any discomfort or symptoms from their heart trouble, and enjoy either full activity or nearly full activity in the meantime. Nature adjusts the heart muscle to the increased demands caused by the leaky valve and the heart is able to carry on for many years. When it does lose its compensation medical treatment by the use of rest and such drugs as digitalis is quite competent to effect a readjustment in the great majority of cases.

H. B.: "I have been getting many scallops out of the river located in this town. Would you please tell me what the medical value of the scallop is?"

Answer: Scallops are much like mussels or oysters in composition, although a little higher in protein value. They have 14 per cent protein as against oysters 6 per cent. They have 3 1/2 per cent of carbohydrate as against oysters 3 1-3 per cent. Their fuel value is 345 calories per pound.

Editor's Note: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendingen can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendingen, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth Street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Femal Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Wanted - Honest Opinion

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"Dear Miss Lee: I want your honest opinion on my situation. I am a man 32 and I am keeping company with a woman 36. My parents say she is too old, but they find fault with every girl I go out with.

"This woman is truly beautiful, better looking than I or any member of my family, and she asks no expensive entertainment. A show or an evening at home is enough for her. She knows I am poor.

"It seems all that girls can talk about is good looking men and clothes. At first I thought she loved me, but she is not a bit concerned on account of her age, and I treated her rather shabbily. I would flit to make her jealous, but she only laughed and told me how foolish it was to become temperamental, for if a man loved her he would love just for herself, and if not, nothing would make him.

"You see what a difference there is after a few years. Nothing has come to this woman with age but beauty of face and form and soul. I am not the only one who loves her, and she is not a bit concerned. There are men in my crowd who raze me that would gladly marry her. Her husband was a World War veteran. Don't you think marriage makes women's minds beautiful and understanding Miss Lee? Most girls of 20 do not know what love is all about.

Mark A.

Goodness, Mark, you talk as if this woman was at least 60. You are over 30 yourself, you know, and there are only four little years' difference in your ages. People are not even considered middle-aged until they are 40. I bet she looks younger than you right now.

You are right, however, concerning the difference a few years makes in a woman. This one has a soul and it has grown and developed through the years and with adversity. Life does that to some; others shrivel as they grow older. Marriage should broaden men and women, making them more understanding. It does most, I really think, but not all.

If you can win this lovely, tolerant woman, my boy, you may indeed consider yourself lucky. Imagine treating such a person shabbily because you thought she might appear undesirable to some poor visionless souls. A woman like that is always desirable. Better spend the rest of your life trying to make up to her for this blunder.

Lonely Sue: Pretty hard to diagnose your case from this distance. Sue, I might not be able to say what is wrong even if I saw you, as I'm only a woman. I don't believe your "kidishness" would make any difference. The best advice I can give you is that you keep your spirits up and have the very best time you can now and expect your time to come. It usually does and may any time now.

?????: If you can't bring yourself to write the boy an apology for the snubbing you gave him, you can only wait until you meet him and tell him personally that you are sorry you treated a good friend so shabbily, and ask him to forgive you and be friends again.

Gloria Given Counsel

By GLADYS GLAD

"Dear Miss Glad: As Walter Winchell would say—an orchid to you for your grand 'Beauty Culture' booklet! It's been no end of help to me—

cured my dandruff entirely. And that means a lot to me, as my hair is black and the dandruff was so noticeable. And now I have a request to make. My friends tell me that I look exactly like that German screen star, Lil Dagover. I don't quite know how to arrange my hair, and I'd like to try the coiffure that this star wears. Can you tell me how Lil Dagover arranges her hair?" "Gloria."

The coiffure that the new German screen star, Lil Dagover, is sporting at the present time is an exacting one. But if you look as much like Lil Dagover as your friends say, you can probably get away with it. It's really quite simple to arrange. The hair sweeps from the forehead straight back to the tips of the ears. Right behind the ears, it is caught on each side with a small side comb, and then falls in loose shadow curls at the nape of the neck.

"Dear Miss Glad: I've had quite a few worries during the past two years, and now that my troubles are at an end, I notice that my mouth corners droop terribly. I'm really happy now, and don't like to act any drying effects.

look so unhappy and discontented. Is there anything that I can do about it?" "Kate."

Since your worries are at an end, you must learn to smile again, Kate. Relax your mouth entirely, and note the improvement. These hardened, determined muscles must be loosened. Facial exercises such as the movements involved in whistling, chewing and blowing bubbles will all help to exercise your mouth muscles, and make your mouth more softly contoured. Also, experiment with different facial expressions before your mirror until you find the one that makes you appear most attractive. Then practice this facial expression until it becomes as natural to you as your present unhappy, discontented one.

"Dear Miss Glad: I know that the girl who wishes to be perfect in every respect should not smoke. But the fact remains that I do. And I'm always sorry afterwards, because my fingers become so stained with the nicotine. Can you tell me how to remove the staining?" "K. R. E."

There are three methods of removing nicotine stains from the fingers. Firstly, you can moisten a nail brush with peroxide, and scrub the stains with it. Secondly, you can moisten the tip of an unburned match, and rub it over the discolored areas. And thirdly, you can make a paste of powdered pumice and lemon juice, and rub the paste briskly over the nicotine stains. Always, after the use of any one of these methods, you should rinse your hands thoroughly, and massage them with a good hand lotion, or a rich cream in order to counteract any drying effects.

It is asserted—and there is circumstantial evidence to support the allegation—that the dollar is possessed of a fear that if it goes out, it never will get back home again.

And so the dollar has been crawling into old stockings, mattresses, clocks and pewter pots. It has failed to recognize that its own successful future is dependent upon its full co-operation with other dollars in a free movement among the various activities which provide a people with food, clothing and a few luxuries.

Efforts, therefore, are being made to tease these timid dollars to come from their hiding places and do their share of the work. These "slacker" dollars, as they have been called by some of their more ambitious and intrepid brethren, have been poking their heads out in much the same manner as a hibernating woodchuck. According to reports, something like 34,000,000 have been encouraged to come out on the front porch and take a look at things.

One of the new proposals for tempting these procrastinating and timorous dollars from their holes and getting them to do a little legitimate work is to be found in the movement for an issue of baby bonds which is said to have wide approval. Once these bawky dollars get to moving down the avenues of business there will be as much jubilation as over a circus parade.

THE WAY IN CHINA

When students in China do not like the way things are going they start a boycott or beat a Cabinet minister nearly to death or besiege a recalcitrant mayor in his yamen.

American students are less belligerent. They get together in organizations claiming a membership of 1,000,000 and sign an appeal to the Government in Washington to withdraw American citizens from danger zones, to withhold protection from American interests and property, to withdraw American troops from China and to contribute to the early cessation of hostilities there by pacific means only! They do not say what they will do if the Government does not do as they say.

American citizens and interests and property are in China today by virtue of treaties amicably entered into by China and this country, as well as by the comity of nations. They are entitled to protection. They cannot be withdrawn by the Government. Withholding protection from them would be an admission of weakness that would make the United States the laughing stock of the world and invite invasion of its rights from all sides.

The National Student Federation of America should send its members back to school and college there to bone up on the principles that govern intercourse between civilized nations and free peoples. Yet what can one expect of the boys, when the president of Harvard University goes on the air and urges an economic boycott of Japan because of its present activities in China?

Our Revolution Is Viewed

Great Britain and the United States have been running on parallel lines since the days when George III wanted to chop off the heads of the colonists because he did not know the difference between them and the aborigines. Within recent years the gap between America and England has been bridged, but it must now be strengthened.

Peace has endured between the United States and Great Britain in spite of everything. I have always felt that it is we who should celebrate the Fourth of July. Certainly we have no grudge against you. It was bound to happen, the Revolution, not at tea time in Boston, then at supper in New York.

MY NEW YORK

By JAMES ASWELL

NEW YORK. — This Looney Town: The manager of one of the ritziest hotels in the world received a complaint the other day from a lady guest who said she couldn't sleep or relax because of the incessant piano thumping of a neighbor.

"I wouldn't mind if he could really play!" she ended. . . The neighbor turned out to be Paderewski. And incidentally they tell me that the great pianist imported a personal chef, who not only prepared all his dishes but must taste each one before the master will dine. . . There are half a dozen big shots who control or have a finger in the management of the majority of the night clubs in Manhattan. . . That's why some of them continue to operate on huge nightly losses. . . Whenever a spot "clicks" to the tune of big money, it means several obscure joints must fold tents.

The story is going the rounds of the vaudeville "ham" who hired an expensive press agent with a contractual stipulation something like this. . . "The said public relations counsel guaranteeing to get the said actor's name on the front pages of at least three metropolitan dailies within the period of three months." . . On the last day the p. a., desperate, dug up the fact that the actor's wife had been suffering from kleptomania for years and had recently been arrested for lifting an expensive piece of jade from a collector's living room. . . He fulfilled his contract nobly.

A street huckster in the Italian quarter of the lower East Side employs his ten-year-old son as interpreter, the father speaking ENGLISH only. . . Rumor has it that Ford and Rockefeller are no longer the two richest men in the United States, top place being held by a well-known figure who would not want himself to be pictured as the Croesus that he is. . . THE Standard Oil building, at 26 Broadway, where the Rockefeller offices are, is one of the least pretentious piles in town.

Although dwellings and private furnishings remain conservatively "period" or Grand Rapids in tone, nearly all of the new skyscrapers have adopted the modernistic motif. . . The job of mannequin in a fashionable shop seems to be extremely trying, only the most stoic temperaments being able to hold up year after year. . . I know one gown girl who has had two nervous breakdowns in two years. . . But her earnings, at the shop and as model for photographers and artists, have averaged $150 weekly. . . Worth it!

AND HAVE YOU NOTICED—That Doug Fairbanks' brother, Robert, looks like Adolf Menjou? And have you heard the one about the movie hero who told one of the other players on the set, "Either you ease up in that fight scene, or I'll have my double beat the life out of you!"

While attending an assembly program recently at the West Chester State Teachers' college of Pennsylvania I observed that the president, instead of leading in a verbal prayer, bowed in silence for about a minute. The effect was very impressive. Those who wished to pray silently could do so without interruption; those who did not could so choose. The atmosphere was one of reverence.

In Helena, Mont., I visited an assembly program of the grammar grades, in which the children loaf and prayed in concert the following: "Our Father, we, Thy children."

THE WORM TURNS!

EDUCATOR STAUNCH ADVOCATE OF SPOKEN PRAYER IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

In some states there are laws compelling the reading of the Bible in school. Personally I should like to see it made a practice except for one thing—the rights of those parents who on conscientious grounds object to having any religious instruction in the public schools.

In those states where the Bible is to be read at school, and in other states where it is read at the discretion of the teacher, it is a matter of good taste to select such parts of the Bible for reading as would meet with the approval of the three leading religious groups, Jews, Catholics, Protestants. The majority of teachers are coming to this point of view. Consequently the selections read generally are from the Psalms or Proverbs. Where can more unusual English be found?

Of course, if it were known that no Jewish children were present there could be no objection to selections from the New Testament.

While attending an assembly program recently at the West Chester State Teachers' college of Pennsylvania I observed that the president, instead of leading in a verbal prayer, bowed in silence for about a minute. The effect was very impressive. Those who wished to pray silently could do so without interruption; those who did not could so choose. The atmosphere was one of reverence.

In Helena, Mont., I visited an assembly program of the grammar grades, in which the children loaf and prayed in concert the following: "Our Father, we, Thy children."

More About Dogs
I Got Into Trouble
By "Doubting" Their Intelligence
Sort of knew I'd get myself into trouble.

Had a hunch that people would be writing to me, telling me I was wrong, telling me I didn't have brains as a new-born puppy.

Then why did I do it? Why did I go ahead and write and put into print that the intelligence of dogs is overrated?

I don't know why. Just stubbornness, I suppose. Just perversity. Just because I felt like starting an argument.

happens. Anyway, I did it. . . I buried the statement in the heart of an article and didn't emphasize it at all, but dog-lovers sniffed it out and ran me to my hole.

I've had letters. I've had people stop me on the street and tell me I was all wrong and tell me long stories to prove the intelligence of their dogs.

I did not say that dogs weren't intelligent. I merely said dogs aren't as intelligent as many people think. . . I didn't make it up. It wasn't my opinion. I got it from a psychology professor who came before Thee this morning with humble hearts. We thank Thee for Thy mercies, and we pray that Thou wilt so help us that those about us today may be a little happier and a little better for our influence."

Undoubtedly this is readily approved by all faiths. That a prayer for all children in a public school should be such as will be approved by practically all religions is, it seems to me, quite essential if we are to maintain the spirit of our democracy. When such can be done, a wholesome attitude expressed by school children at the beginning of the day would certainly have some real value. As one school principal told me recently in my home city, "I could not feel that the school day had been started right without some expression of reverence to Almighty God."

Here is a prayer my children learned when in the kindergarten and which some parents urge their young children to pray at home: "Father, we thank Thee for the night, And for the pleasant morning light; For rest and food and loving care, And all that makes the day so fair."

"Help us to do the things we should, To be to others kind and good, In all we do, in work or play, To grow more loving every day."

I wish we might, in the public schools, go one step further and assure those few parents who declare themselves to be atheists that they have the privilege of allowing their children to retire from the assembly or school room while religious services are being conducted.

One thing is certain, there can be no objection to religious parents training their children at home in whatever religion they choose. There lies the hope of religion.

Budgets For The Entire Family

By MRS. MARY MORTON

DO NOT BE TOO SIMPLE

One of the mistakes that is often made in keeping records of family expenditures is due to a false idea of simplicity. Often a person will start keeping a record by writing on one page or in one column all the money received and the source, and on the next page or in the next column all the money paid out and the items for which it was paid.

At the end of the month these two pages or columns are totaled. This merely gives two money totals—amount received and amount spent.

This type of record may look simple, but, in the long run, if any real use is made of it, a great deal of work will have to be done in sorting out items under various heads. What is needed is to know not merely the total amount spent, but what has been spent on clothes, on food, on recreation, and on other principal items, and what was obtained in return.

The items should be classified when entered in the record. At first glance this may look complicated, but in the end it is much simpler than any other method. Of course it is useful to have a memorandum book in which the expenditures may be jotted down as made, but when these are transferred to the regular record they should be entered under the suitable heading.

A record of expenditures is not something merely to keep. It is something to study and to use as the basis for correcting past mistakes in spending, and for making a better plan for the future.

Necessity Of Minerals

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Iron has been known for a long time as the essential blood builder. Both the medical profession and the laity conceive of iron as the part of the red blood cell which gives the blood its color and does its essential work of oxygen transportation.

The use of iron alone in secondary anemia was a disappointment, and long before the introduction of the liver diet for pernicious anemia had fallen into disuse.

In infant nutrition the habit became general for the physician to prescribe pigment containing foods to furnish material for the body's manufacture of haemoglobin. It was for this reason that pigment containing vegetables, such as spinach and carrots, became so popular for infants and children.

The latest studies make it appear likely that other metals, particularly copper and manganese, are necessary for blood formation. Also that they are the essential parts of the dietary of adults.

You may not have known that you were eating copper but you have been all your life. The average intake of copper calculated for the average meals of a number of American families by Hodges and Peterson show that we eat 2½ milligrams of copper a day, and a little more than that of manganese. The intake of iron in the average dietary is 15½ milligrams.

The foods which are richest in copper are calf liver, oysters, beef liver, mushrooms, currants and chocolate. Those richest in manganese are wheat, bran, blueberries, whole wheat, split peas and navy beans. Those richest in iron are liver, spinach, lima beans and navy beans.

The practical results in patients with the anemia of infancy indicate that when given an anti-anemic diet alone, there was little improvement; when given diet and iron there was some improvement, and when given diet, iron and copper there was rapid and marked improvement.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS
Q. S.: "I would like to have this question answered. How can cardiac and heart murmur be cured?"

Answer: Heart murmurs are usually indicative of an inflammation of the valves of the heart. There is no way to repair the damage once it has been done. But the management and treatment of these cases is much more hopeful than might be supposed. Many of them live to an advanced age without any discomfort or symptoms from their heart trouble, and enjoy either full activity or nearly full activity in the meantime. Nature adjusts the heart muscle to the increased demands caused by the leaky valve and the heart is able to carry on for many years. When it does lose its compensation medical treatment by the use of rest and such drugs as digitalis is quite competent to effect a readjustment in the great majority of cases.

H. B.: "I have been getting many scallops out of the river located in this town. Would you please tell me what the medical value of the scallop is?"

Answer: Scallops are much like mussels or oysters in composition, although a little higher in protein value. They have 14 per cent protein as against oysters 6 per cent. They have 3½ per cent of carbohydrate as against oysters 1-3 per cent. Their fuel value is 345 calories per pound.

Wanted - Honest Opinion

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"Dear Miss Lee: I want your honest opinion on my situation. I am a man 32 and I am keeping company with a woman 26. My parents say she is too old, but they find fault with every girl I go out with."

"This woman is truly beautiful, better looking than I or any member of my family, and she asks no expensive entertainment. A show or an evening at home is enough for her. She knows I am poor."

"It seems all that girls can talk about is good looking men and clothes. At first I thought she had no temper because she had no choice on account of her age, and I treated her rather shabbily. I would flirt to make her jealous, but she only laughed and told me how foolish it was to become temperamental, for if a man loved her he would love just for herself, and if not, nothing would make him."

"You see what a difference there is after a few years. Nothing has come to this woman with age but beauty of face and form and soul. I am not the only one who loves her, and she is not a bit conceited. There are men in my crowd who would flatter her to make her marry her. Her husband was a World War veteran. Don't you think marriage makes women's minds beautiful and understanding Miss Lee? Most girls of 20 do not know what love is all about."

Mark A.

Goodness, Mark, you talk as if this woman was at least 60. You are over 30 yourself, you know, and there are only four little years' difference in your ages. People are not even considered middle-aged until they are 40. I bet she looks younger than you right now.

You are right, however, concerning the difference a few years makes in a woman. This one has a soul and it has grown and developed through the years and with adversity. Life does that to some; others shrivel as they grow older. Marriage should broaden men and women, making them more understanding. It does most, I really think, but not all.

If you can win this lovely, tolerant woman, my boy, you may indeed consider yourself lucky. Imagine treating such a person shabbily because you thought she might appear undesirable to some poor virgin who would make any difference. The best advice I can give you is that you keep your spirits up and have the very best time you can now and expect your time to come. It usually does and may any time now.

Lonely Sue: Pretty hard to diagnose your case from this distance, Sue. I might not be able to say what is wrong even if I saw you, as I'm only a woman. I don't believe in giving advice unless I know the difference. The best advice I can give you is that you keep your spirits up and have the very best time you can now and expect your time to come. It usually does and may any time now.

????? If you can't bring yourself to write the boy an apology for the snubbing you gave him, you may wait until you meet him and tell him personally that you are sorry you treated a good friend so shabbily, and ask him to forgive you and be friends again.

Gloria Given Counsel

By GLADYS GLAD

"Dear Miss Glad: As Walter Winchell would say—an orchard to you for your grand Beauty Culture book! It's been a help to me—help to me—"

cured my dandruff entirely, and that means a lot to me, as my hair is black, and the dandruff was so noticeable. And now I have a request—"

My friends tell me that I look exactly like that German screen star, Lil Dagover. I don't quite know how to arrange it."

Gladys Glad range my hair, and I'd like to try the coiffure that this star wears. Can you tell me how Lil Dagover arranges her hair?"

"Gloria."

The coiffure that the new German screen star, Lil Dagover, is sporting at the present time is an exacting one. But if you look as much like Lil Dagover as your friends say, you can probably get away with it. It's really quite simple to arrange. The hair sweeps from the forehead straight back to the tips of the ears. Right behind the ears, it is caught on each side with a small side comb, and then falls in loose shadow curls at the nape of the neck.

"Dear Miss Glad: I've had quite a few worries during the past two years, and now that my troubles are at an end, I notice that my mouth corners droop terribly. I'm really happy now, and don't like to look so unhappy and discontented. Is there anything that I can do about it?"

Since your worries are at an end, you must learn to smile again. Relax your mouth entirely, and note the improvement. These hardened, determined muscles must be loosened. Facial exercises such as the movements involved in whistling, chewing and blowing bubbles will all help to exercise your mouth muscles, and make your mouth more softly contoured. Also, experiment with different facial expressions before your mirror until you find the one that makes you appear most attractive. Then practice this facial expression until it becomes as natural to you as your present unhappy, discontented one.

"Dear Miss Glad: I know that the girl who wishes to be perfect in every respect should not smoke. But the fact remains that I do. And I'm always sorry afterwards, because my fingers become so stained with the nicotine. Can you tell me how to remove such stains?"

"K. R. E."

There are three methods of removing nicotine stains from the fingers. Firstly, you can moisten the stains with peroxide, and scrub the stains with it. Secondly, you can moisten the tip of an unburned match, and rub it over the discolorations. And thirdly, you can make a paste of powdered pumice and lemon juice, and rub the paste briskly over the nicotine stains. Always, after the use of any one of these methods, you should fine your hands thoroughly, and massage them with a good hand lotion, or a rich cream in order to counteract any drying effects.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS FRAMED by Phil

Ross Twp., Cedarville, Bryan High of Yellow Springs and Bellbrook are favorites of this corner of the page to win their first round contests Friday and progress to the semi-finals of the 1932 Greene County basketball tournament at Osborn.

Ross will thereupon eliminate Cedarville, Bellbrook will triumph over Bryan High and Ross will successfully defend its title by defeating Bellbrook in the tournament finals Saturday night.

At least, that is a somewhat logical conclusion, based on the scores of previous games between the schools during the regular season.

Consequently, it can be taken for granted that this department stamp of approval has now placed a jinx on Cedarville, Ross, Bryan and Bellbrook and that the forthcoming first round contests will develop victories for Beaver over Cedarville, Spring Valley over Ross, Jamestown over Bryan and Jefferson over Bellbrook.

Seriously, however, our records show the following data having a bearing on probable winners in first round tournament contests: Cedarville, which clashes with Beaver, won from this team by scores of 36 to 14 and 27 to 26 during the season. Ross High, unbeaten during the season, won from Spring Valley twice, each time with the utmost difficulty, however, by scores of 27 to 25 and 33 to 25. Bryan High required an overtime period to beat Jamestown, 21 to 15, at Yellow Springs, and Bellbrook triumphed over Jefferson cagers, 30 to 23 at Bellbrook.

With Ross High installed as a prohibitive tournament favorite, it is natural to wonder which team it will meet, and probably beat, in the finals Saturday night.

Emanuel Good, our Osborn observer, writes to express his tourney views and to pick Jefferson rather than Bellbrook as the opponent of the defending champs in the final game. Here is what he has to say:

"Although I know that Ross Twp. should win the Greene County tournament here at Osborn, the question arises: who will Ross meet in the finals? Jefferson is my choice to be the team that Ross will have to top in the last game. Ross should win by a margin of eight points, but I may be wrong though, for it's my first try at picking the winner of a basketball tournament."

"Without a doubt, Jefferson rates next to Ross in class, and fortunately was lucky in the draw. Otherwise, some weaker team would have reached the finals if Jefferson would have had to play Ross in the first round of play. If the 'black cats' keep out of Jefferson's path, I think I'll be O. K. I may miss the score, however."

A tournament to determine the foremost ping-pong player in Dayton and vicinity will be held at the Dayton Y. M. C. A. March 4 and 5, and Charles Zell, the best ping-pong player in this city, may enter it. The Y. M. C. A. at Dayton is where he learned all about the game.

CEDARVILLE LOSES TO WILMINGTON BUT PLAYS GREAT GAME

Gives Quakers Run For
Money In Contest
Wednesday

Cedarville College basketball, exhibiting by far their best form of the season, threw a scare into the powerful Wilmington College quintet before admitting defeat, 33 to 26, in a return contest at Alford gymnasium Wednesday night. The game was the last of the schedule for Wilmington.

Wilmington, which earlier in the season humbled the Borstmen, 37 to 13, found the Yellow Jackets more stubborn opponents this time, and Steel's team was probably thankful to escape with a victory by any kind of a margin.

At one stage of the proceedings, during the first half, Cedarville was sporting a four-point lead, only to have Wilmington cagers rally and forge ahead by a score of 18 to 14 at the half.

The defeat was the eighteenth straight for Cedarville this season, but though beaten by Wilmington, the Borstmen were far from disgraced.

A preliminary game resulted in a 26 to 14 triumph for Wilmington reserves over Cedarville seconds. Jacoby, tall Wilmington center, was high scorer of the evening with eleven points, followed by Irvin, guard, who scored nine. Spencer, center, collected seven points for Cedarville.

Cedarville will wind up its schedule Wednesday night next week, playing a return game with Bluffton College at Alford gymnasium. Lineups: Wilmington G. F. P. King, f. 12 9 33 Cedarville G. F. P. ROSS HIGH FAVORED TO RETAIN TOURNAY TITLE THREE YEARS

Champs Expected To Repeat This Week At
Bath High

Hoping to be the first school in the history of the Greene County basketball tournament to win the classic three years in succession, Ross Twp. High, winner of the 1930 and 1931 tourneys, is favored to retain its title in the eighteenth annual competition at the new Bath High School gymnasium in Osborn Friday and Saturday.

No school has won the tourney three years straight since the event was founded in 1915 at Antioch College by Lowell Fess, son of U. S. Senator Simeon D. Fess, Yellow Springs.

Friday's tourney play will be devoted exclusively to first round eliminations with two contests carded for the afternoon and two more in the evening.

Cedarville and Beaver Creek will square off in the initial game at 2 o'clock, and the champion Ross quintet, undefeated this season, will meet Spring Valley at 3 o'clock. The evening program is initiated at 7:30 o'clock with a game between Jamestown and Bryan High of Yellow Springs after which Bellbrook will clash with Jefferson Twp. at 8:30 o'clock in what promises to be the closest tourney clash of the day.

SENIORS WIN FROM FRESHMEN OUTFIT IN SCHOOL LEAGUE

Yearlings Handicapped
And Lose Lead By
18 to 8 Score

Struggling along without the valuable services of Francis Dalton, their high-scoring center, the freshmen basketballers, previously unbeaten in the intra-mural rivalry at Central High School, slipped back into a tie with the seniors for first place when they met a crushing 18 to 8 defeat in a game with the senior quintet Wednesday afternoon.

The seniors thereby made amends for an earlier defeat administered by the frosh. Francis Dalton, who was missing from the frosh lineup Wednesday, is a brother of Freddie Dalton, southpaw Xenia Central forward, and possesses much of Freddie's natural basketball ability.

The seniors enjoyed an 8 to 9 lead at the half after the first period was scoreless for both teams. The freshmen were again blanked in the third quarter while the seniors collected six more points to increase their margin to 14 to 2.

LeMar, center, tallied eight points for the winners, and Weinart scored six for the frosh. Lineups: Seniors G. F. P. ST. BRIGID HIGH BOOKS DAYTON TEAM

St. Brigid High's basketball team is hopeful of improving its season's record at the expense of the Dayton Co-Op Comets in a contest down for a decision Thursday night at Central High School gymnasium. The Xenia parochial school team, which has won five games and lost four, had a four-game winning streak shattered a week ago when it lost unexpectedly to Urbana St. Marys, 17 to 16.

Besides the games Thursday night, St. Brigid has one more contest remaining on its schedule—that a return affair with the University of Dayton Preps here March 3. The Baby Flyers beat St. Brigid, 15 to 8, January 8 at Dayton.

EAST END NEWS

Friday night at East High, the Cotton Club presents for your approval the very latest in minstrelsy. At that time, managers of the production anticipated an enthusiastic audience seated by 8 o'clock ready for the curtain to rise on this new aggregation of song and dance.

John L. Leaves Philadelphia
DISHEARTENED by the shabby treatment accorded him by the New York crowd, John L. went to Philadelphia on a mission of good will only to find out that he was unwelcome there, too. Police not only barred him from a hall in Philadelphia in which he was to stage an exhibition with an old friend, Mike Cleary, at a benefit for Cleary, but ordered him back to his hotel. Bewildered, John L. returned to Boston.

Ruled 42 Years

A rarely photographed ruler is shown here in a hitherto unpublished picture. She is Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, who has ruled her country since 1890, when she was ten years old. The Queen's only daughter, Princess Juliana, now 23, will succeed to the throne on her mother's death.

EAST HIGH NOTES

The bi-centennial anniversary of the birthday of George Washington was observed by East High pupils in the study hall Monday morning at 9:45. At that time, Prof. Booker, professor of English and director of publicity at Wilberforce addressed the faculty and student body on "Three Spirits".

The second and last Scientific initiation of this school year was conducted Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of last week. Two sophomores, Lola Riley and Henry Ford, and two seniors, George Miles and Titus Anderson were the eligible students. Wednesday night after the initiation, a "prom" was held in the "gym" in their honor. We, the members of the Scientific Society, heartily welcome these new members, and hope that they will derive some benefit from the club.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

FRAMED

Ross Twp., Cedarville, Bryan High of Yellow Springs and Bellbrook are favorites of this corner of the page to win their first round contests Friday and progress to the semi-finals of the 1932 Greene County basketball tournament at Osborn.

Ross will thereupon eliminate Cedarville, Bellbrook will triumph over Bryan High and Ross will successfully defend its title by defeating Bellbrook in the tournament finals Saturday night.

At least, that is a somewhat logical conclusion, based on the scores of previous games between the schools during the regular season.

Consequently, it can be taken for granted that this department stamp of approval has now placed a jinx on Cedarville, Ross, Bryan and Bellbrook and that the forthcoming first round contests will develop victories for Beaver over Cedarville, Spring Valley over Ross, Jamestown over Bryan and Jefferson over Bellbrook.

Seriously, however, our records show the following data having a bearing on probable winners in first round tournament contests:

Cedarville, which clashes with Beaver, won from this team by scores of 36 to 14 and 27 to 26 during the season. Ross High, unbeaten during the season, won from Spring Valley twice, each time with the utmost difficulty, however, by scores of 27 to 25 and 33 to 25. Bryan High acquired an overtime period to beat Jamestown, 21 to 15, at Yellow Springs, and Bellbrook triumphed over Jefferson cagers, 30 to 23 at Bellbrook.

With Ross High installed as a prohibitive tournament favorite, it is natural to wonder which team it will meet, and probably beat, in the finals Saturday night.

Emanuel Good, our Osborn observer, writes to express his tourney views and to pick Jefferson rather than Bellbrook as the opponent of the defending champs in the final game. Here is what he has to say:

"Although I know that Ross Twp. should win the Greene County tournament here at Osborn, the question arises: who will Ross meet in the finals? Jefferson is my choice to be the team that Ross will have to top in the last game. Ross should win by a margin of eight points, but I may be wrong, though, for it's my first try at picking the winner of a basketball tournament."

"Without a doubt, Jefferson rates next to Ross in class, and fortunately was lucky in the draw. Otherwise, some weaker team would have reached the finals if Jefferson would have had to play Ross in the first round of play. If the 'black cats' keep out of Jefferson's path, I think I'll be O. K. I may miss the score, however."

A tournament to determine the foremost ping-pong player in Dayton and vicinity will be held at the Dayton Y. M. C. A. March 4 and 5, and Charles Zell, the best ping-pong player in this city, may enter it. The Y. M. C. A. at Dayton is where he learned all about the game.

Leading by a margin of 13 to 7 at halftime and surviving a determined comeback on the part of the visiting quintet in the last semester, the Jamestown Merchants scored a 25 to 20 victory over the Monarch Machine and Tool Co. team from Sidney Wednesday night at Jamestown. Baker, forward, tallied twelve points for Jamestown and Shirk was close behind with nine. Clark obtained eleven of Sidney's points. Lineups:

CEDARVILLE LOSES TO WILMINGTON BUT PLAYS GREAT GAME

Gives Quakers Run For
Money In Contest
Wednesday

Cedarville College basketballers, exhibiting by far their best form of the season, threw a scare into the powerful Wilmington College quintet before admitting defeat, 33 to 26, in a return contest at Alford gymnasium Wednesday night. The game was the last of the schedule for Wilmington.

Wilmington, which earlier in the season humbled the Borstmen, 37 to 13, found the Yellow Jackets more stubborn opponents this time, and Steel's team was probably thankful to escape with a victory by any kind of a margin.

At one stage of the proceedings, during the first half, Cedarville was sporting a four-point lead, only to have Wilmington cagers rally and force ahead by a score of 18 to 14 at the half.

The defeat was the eighteenth straight for Cedarville this season, but though beaten by Wilmington, the Borstmen were far from disgraced.

A preliminary game resulted in a 26 to 14 triumph for Wilmington reserves over Cedarville seconds.

Jacoby, tall Wilmington center, was high scorer of the evening with eleven points, followed by Irvin, guard, who scored nine. Spencer, center, collected seven points for Cedarville.

Cedarville will wind up its schedule Wednesday night next week, playing a return game with Bluffton College at Alford gymnasium. Lineups:

Wilmington: G. F. P. King, f. 2 1 5; Dakin, f. 1 0 2; Jacoby, c. 5 1 11; Manuel, g. 1 2 4; Irvin, g. 2 5 9; Houck, g. 1 0 2.

ROSS HIGH FAVORED TO RETAIN TOURNAY TITLE THREE YEARS

Champs Expected To Repeat
This Week At
Bath High

Hoping to be the first school in the history of the Greene County basketball tournament to win the classic three years in succession, Ross Twp. High, winner of the 1930 and 1931 tourneys, is favored to retain its title in the eighteenth annual competition at the new Bath High School gymnasium in Osborn Friday and Saturday.

No school has won the tourney three years straight since the event was founded in 1915 at Antioch College by Lowell Fess, son of U. S. Senator Simeon D. Fess, Yellow Springs.

Friday's tourney play will be devoted exclusively to first round eliminations with two contests carded for the afternoon and two more in the evening.

Cedarville and Beavercreek will square off in the initial game at 2 o'clock, and the champion Ross quintet, undefeated this season, will meet Spring Valley at 2 o'clock. The evening program is initiated at 7:30 o'clock with a game between Jamestown and Bryan High of Yellow Springs after which Bellbrook will clash with Jefferson Twp. at 8:30 o'clock in what promises to be the closest tourney clash of the day.

SENIORS WIN FROM FRESHMEN OUTFIT IN SCHOOL LEAGUE

Yearlings Handicapped
And Lose Lead By
18 to 8 Score

Struggling along without the valuable services of Francis Dalton, their high-scoring center, the freshmen basketballers, previously unbeaten in the intra-mural rivalry at Central High School, slipped back into a tie with the seniors for first place when they met a crushing 18 to 8 defeat in a game with the senior quintet Wednesday afternoon.

The seniors thereby made amends for an earlier defeat administered by the frosh. Francis Dalton, who was missing from the frosh lineup Wednesday, is a brother of Fred Dalton, southpaw Xenia Central forward, and possesses much of Freddie's natural basketball ability.

The seniors enjoyed an 8 to 2 lead at the half after the first period was scoreless for both teams. The freshmen were again blanked in the third quarter while the seniors collected six more points to increase their margin to 14 to 2. LaMar, center, tallied eight points for the winners, and Weingart scored six for the frosh. Lineups:

ST. BRIGID HIGH BOOKS DAYTON TEAM

St. Brigid High's basketball team is hopeful of improving its season's record at the expense of the Dayton Co-Op. Comets in a contest down for a decision Thursday night at Central High School gymnasium. The Xenia parochial school team, which has won five games and lost four, had a four-game winning streak shattered a week ago when it lost unexpectedly to Urbana St. Marys, 17 to 16.

BOARD; MEETS SOON

Possible abolition of the team pulling contests, annual feature of the Greene County Fair, discussion of free fair attractions for the 1932 exposition, and final approval of the revised fair catalogue in which premium lists offered this year have been cut from 15 to 25 per cent, will be considered at a meeting of the fair board Saturday, March 12.

In announcing that premium reductions will total about $2,000, Secretary J. Robert Bryson reveals that a gradual reduction, from the speed department downward, has been approved by the board in all departments of the fair.

Carrying out an economy program, the board had reached its own decision to cut premiums, even before such reductions were advocated recently at the annual meeting of the Southwestern Ohio Short Ship Fair Circuit, embracing eleven counties, Secretary Bryson said.

"Purses and premiums of our local fair have been amounting to between $8,000 and $9,000 annually," the secretary declared. "The board accepted a cut made by County Commissioners in the levy for the fair last year, but this year more money was allowed by the county."

The board, according to Secretary Bryson, is to receive about $4,500, including $800, representing the county per capita tax, and $500 from the state for boys' and girls' club work.

Dates for the annual fair this year are August 2-5. Greene County's fair will again be the first in the Southwestern circuit.

HUMAN BODY RADIATES HEAT JUST LIKE
STOVE SCIENCE DISCOVERS IN TESTS

By LEIGH MATTESON

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Smithsonian Institution gives us the human body as radiator and radiatee. Delicate tests conducted in the institution by Dr. L. B. Aldrich, of the Astrophysical Observatory, show the mechanism of the body is such that one part can receive and use heat while another part is giving it off in the form of radiation just like a stove or star.

Dr. Aldrich also found that there is a constant exchange of heat between the body and other bodies and things, over considerable distances.

For instance, a child is seated in a school room with one side near a hot radiator, the other side near a cold window pane, facing another child ahead and with its back toward a damp wall.

Delicate instruments show that each side of the child has accommodated itself to the heat conditions imposed on it by this position. The skin of the child radiates heat toward the cold window, and the damp wall, breaks out in a perspiration to protect itself from the radiator heat and makes smaller accommodations to the body of the child seated in front.

This famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other ingredients brings relief naturally. Musterole gets action because it is a "counter-irritant"—not just a salve—it penetrates and stimulates blood circulation and helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. a schoolroom may radiate twice as much heat on the side toward a damp wall than toward the heated interior of the room.

Other measurements showed that the human skin is almost a perfect non-conductor of heat coming from an outside source. The skin, of course, reacts to such heat but this heat, no matter how intense, is rarely transmitted in any degree to the muscles under the skin.

GETS ENDORSEMENT OF WARREN COUNTY

L. T. Marshall, Xenia, candidate for the Republican nomination for congressman from the Seventh District, attended a dinner meeting in Lebanon Wednesday night, at which time he received the endorsement of the Republican organization of Warren, the county of his birth. He now has the endorsement of three counties, Greene, Clinton and Warren, out of nine in the district.

Attorney Marshall also spoke at a noon meeting of the Rotary Club at Franklin Wednesday.

"It is good of you to say those nice things," she replied.

Some people just "bubble over" with vitality... they inspire compliments.

...sparkling vitality and a clear skin
reflect rich, red blood cells

NATURE has its own way of making a strong body and a clear skin... by its use of the red-blood-cells.

So often the pressure of work and worry or some sickness "burn up" these precious red-blood-cells, then the hemoglobin percentage begins to fall and we wonder "what is the matter?"

If this is your trouble, why not take steps to overcome it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning... so are pimples, boils and paleness.

For generations S.S.S. as a tonic has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a good trial. Why not start taking S.S.S. today?—the larger size represents a price saving.

Central Jr. Champs

As a part of the Washington celebration, at Central, Coach Patterson and the champion junior high team presented Mr. Woodruff, on behalf of the school, with the beautiful silver trophy which they won in the Penta-County tourney at Leesburg. The junior basketball players were introduced to the upper classmen by "Pat."

Letters will be awarded these boys later and it is hoped that a suitable remembrance in the form of a gold basketball will be able to be obtained for these boys in recognition of their hard work. This champion team has a wonderful record, having won fourteen of the fifteen games played.

Sophomore Dance

The sophomore class is planning a St. Patrick's Day dance to be given in the high school gym March 11. The orchestra and price of admission are not known. Chairmen of the different dance committees are: orchestra, Clinton Adair; tickets, Rachel Bell; advertising, Charles Bone; refreshment, Flora Ireton; decoration, Dorothea Burba.

The junior and senior girls saw two reels revealing the academic work and the activities and athletics of Hood College in Maryland.

The films were brought to the high school by Miss Dorothy McIntyre, a graduate of Hood College, with the class of '29. Miss McIntyre said that seven or eight alumni are now living in Xenia.

Sophomore Sale

The sophomores held a polar cake sale Wednesday after the ac-

As a part of the Washington celebration, at Central, Coach Patterson and the champion junior high team presented Mr. Woodruff, on behalf of the school, with the beautiful silver trophy which they won in the Penta-County tourney at Leesburg. The junior basketball players were introduced to the upper classmen by "Pat."

Letters will be awarded these boys later and it is hoped that a suitable remembrance in the form of a gold basketball will be able to be obtained for these boys in recognition of their hard work. This champion team has a wonderful record, having won fourteen of the fifteen games played.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned. It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Remotest substitute, 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

The films were brought to the high school by Miss Dorothy McIntyre, a graduate of Hood College, with the class of '29. Miss McIntyre said that seven or eight alumni are now living in Xenia.

treaty could not be disregarded without abrogating all the other treaties signed at the Washington conference in 1922. Principal among these other treaties was the agreement for the limitation of naval armaments.

Stimson's mention of the American government's surrender of its commanding lead in battle ship construction and fortifications of Guam and the Philippines islands, was interpreted as warning that unless Japan accords more strict observance to her treaty obligations this government will embark upon a naval building and shore fortification program.

Prompt support for Stimson's stand was reflected from the house and senate. The senate naval affairs committee urged immediate enactment of a program authorizing construction of a navy up to treaty limits. Gratification was expressed by numerous senate leaders that Stimson had done with "throwing paper bills" at Japan and had decided upon a more positive policy.

Congressional leaders were unanimous in their agreement with Stimson's declaration that all the treaties signed at the Washington conference were interrelated and interdependent; that Japan's abrogation or violation of the nine power treaty rendered the other treaties likewise null and void.

The feeling prevailed that Japan will find this declaration more difficult to evade or sidestep with a polite denial than she has the numerous protests directed to her by this government, the League of Nations and various other governments. Stimson's statement was not directed to Japan. It was directed to the chairman of the American senate foreign relations committee and it contained the flat declaration that the nine power treaty had been violated.

Stimson went further. He declared that if the obligations of the nine-power treaty had been faithfully observed, the present situation at Shanghai could not have arisen. He then turned aside Japan's oft-repeated claim that her soldiers in China were acting solely in defense of Japanese nationals by saying "no evidence has come to us to indicate that a due compliance (with the treaty obligations) would have interfered with the adequate protection of the legitimate rights in China of the signatories of those treaties and their nationals."

MOONSTRUCK GIRL KEEPS RENDEZVOUS

she would walk through it and meet him at the home of a cousin, Adolph Wegener.

A moon was coming up over the wistful horizon as Elise set out.

They say the moon pulls the tides and there are some who claim it will bring bad luck and good luck and play tricks with the human brain.

"Elise had been in poor health for several years," said her father.

"She failed recently in an examination at Tennant College and she worried over it."

"She began acting strangely and two weeks ago, we took her to Maplewood, N. J., for a change. She remained there a week and when she returned, she appeared in better spirits."

"I relaxed my vigilance because she appeared so improved."

Reverend Frohmer said that his daughter suffered a mental lapse while visiting relatives in Germany in 1929.

Five persons saw Elise wandering through the sparsely settled section.

At about 7:30 p. m., Tuesday, Mrs. Helen Soltyz, only a block from where the beautiful girl was wandering with death, heard a scream.

"Later on that night, I started from sleep and thought I heard a woman scream again," said Mrs. Soltyz.

"All night, the dogs in the neighborhood howled."

Some say that the moon makes the dogs howl at night, some even say that the dogs howl when some one is dying.

Neighbors of the girl knew her as a quiet, studious type. They said she had undergone a nervous breakdown two years ago and was a patient in a hospital. When she recovered, she renewed her studies at Temple University and later at Tennant College. She has two young brothers and a younger sister.

Although preliminary examination of the body suggested no theory of murder, the official cause of death will not be pronounced until an autopsy has been performed.

DILEMMA FACES MODERN "NICE GIRL"; SERIAL "WANTED-LOVE" TELLS STORY

Should a "nice girl" agree to be employed to vamp a young man away from the siren who has enchanted him? Even if the young man's mother urged her to undertake the task?

That dilemma faced Lillian Abbott, heroine of "WANTED-LOVE," a surprising new novel which will be published serially by THE GAZETTE starting Monday.

Probably no "nice girl" in ordinary circumstances would give a moment's thought to the offer. But suppose this girl were cold and hungry and penniless? Suppose she was too proud to return home after her failure in the dramatic career she undertook against her family's wishes? And suppose she had no other training, no other means of support despite her beauty and breeding.

Lillian was down and out—desperate. Then Mrs. Carlton, society leader and social worker, saw her. A glance showed her that Lillian Abbott was no ordinary girl. She offered her money but it was refused.

Now that Fox is concentrating its operation in Westwood, more film people will be moving out of Hollywood toward the beach. This is another step in the westward trek that has marked the expansion of the industry.

Years ago the first movies were made in New York and Brooklyn, before the California locale was developed. Then as studios mushroomed from California soil, the big stars lived downtown in Los Angeles, most of them in a square formed by Seventh and Ninth Sts., and Figueroa and Hope.

Mary Pickford was in the Sinton Apartments, while D. W. Griffith and Henry B. Walthall lived on Hope St. Blanche Sweet, Hobart Bosworth and Raymond Hatton were others in this district. Harold Lloyd had a place on Hoover and world. And if they move again it will be to houseboats.

Carl Laemmle's twenty-sixth anniversary was celebrated by a dinner tendered by the Wampas Tuesday evening. Will H. Hays, czar of the film industry for the last ten years, Governor Rolph of California, President Kleinschmidt of the University of Southern California and Rupert Hughes, the novelist, were among the speakers. Laemmle opened his famous little White Front Theater in Chicago February 24, 1906. Now he heads Universal, one of the largest producing companies.

After a three months search John Stahl and Carl Laemmle Jr. still fail to agree on the proper actress to play "Ray Schmidt" in Fannie Hurst's "Back Streets." They have agreed, however, on John Boles for the role of "Walter Saxel." Mentioned for the female lead are Rose Hobart, Genevieve Tobin, Helen Mencken and Jeanette MacDonald.

easing the congestion of the present federal route 25 without any added cost, such as would be incurred in widening the highway as is now proposed.

The organization meeting was called as a result of the efforts of Wilbur M. Faulkner, Springfield.

Information gathered on various plans to accomplish the suggested new routing was presented for the benefit of the new association by Carl R. Noble, secretary of the Springfield Auto Club. It embraced correspondence with O. W. Merrell, state highway director.

An original proposal to split the Dixie Highway into an east and west division, presented by him, the correspondence indicated.

Thereupon a second plan of designating the proposed route with a single federal number of its own, was at first approved and later lost favor. The director later stated that the federal highways in Ohio now comprise 28 per cent of the road system and cover 3,203 miles, and that the department in charge of federal highways was opposed to increasing the mileage, and in fact, desired to consolidate and reduce it.

It was revealed at the meeting that there is also proposed a William Howard Taft Memorial Highway, which will parallel this one on the east, and with the present Dixie and the proposed Taft road, the state director indicated he could not recommend a third parallel route.

Hearing this information without comment, the organization proceeded with its business as scheduled and also voted to accept an invitation extended by Carl Noble to hold the next meeting at Springfield. The date for the meeting will be announced later by the president.

Steele Poague, manager of the Greene County Auto Club, and Adolph Moser this city attended the meeting.

Mr. J. Powell, secretary of the Southwestern Cement Co. was a guest at the factory Tuesday. He was here on an inspection and business trip.

Two small boys set out from Springfield, O., Tuesday to seek their fortunes elsewhere and after walking to Osborn from Springfield they decided the world hadn't treated them just fair. Their appetites had begun to remind them that home wasn't so bad after all, but having made up their minds to seek the North Pole they finally got courage enough to go into Mr. Foy's Variety Store on Central Ave. where they would gladly have shoveled snow for a bite to eat had there been any snow. They inquired if they could do any other work for their supper. Mr. Foy immediately sensed something wrong and took both kiddies to supper. This was at 7 p. m. Warren Morris, local undertaker, happened along at this time however and the two men decided to take the two to their respective homes and they started for Enon where the youngsters said they lived. After driving around Enon for some time Mr. Morris brought the boys back to Osborn and turned them over to Mayor W. T. Naragon. After gaining the confidence of the kiddies by their gentle attitude toward them they found them to be Clarence Speakman Jr., 10 years old and his brother Fred Speakman, 8 years of age. They told Mr. Naragon who they were and he immediately notified relatives who arrived after them at 11 o'clock Tuesday evening. They live at 1311 W. Main St., Springfield, Ohio.
